

Which career is right for me?

Career checklist

Checklist questions:	Yes/No
Do you know what is important to you in the workplace?
Have you had the opportunity to explore all your occupational interests?
Do you know how to effectively integrate personal information into the world of work?
Are you aware of the activities for each job/career?
Do you have working knowledge of what is required for each job/career?
Do you know where your strengths lie?

If you said no to any of the above questions, we would be happy to have a free consultation to discuss your needs and how to get the most out of your future career path.

Full career guidance assessment: Comprehensive and holistic measurement of cognitive ability, personality, interests and values

Cognitive Ability: Assessment of mental alertness, analytical and logical reasoning, numerical ability, original and creative thinking, spatial relations, concept formation and alertness to detail.

Personality: Assessment of personality preferences and tendencies according to Jung personality codes of extraversion-introversion, sensing-intuition, thinking-feeling and judging-perceiving

Interests: Assessment of key occupational fields, activities and competencies that might be of interest to the learner. A recognised code is produced according to the RIASEC model (Practical-realistic, Scientific-Investigative, Artistic, Social, Enterprising and Conventional).

Values: Assessment of internal (personal) and external (work, societal) values important for the learner. These are significant motivating factors that drive a person to enter into a career in order to be successful and happy.

Note:

- Assessments can vary depending on the individual and what suits them best
- Assessments can be conducted online or paper-and-pencil
- Assessments can be conducted remotely or at the learner's residence
- Feedback can be delivered telephonically or face-to-face
- T's and C's Apply